Course Description

The seminar is an in-depth research extension of the Honors Track courses dealing with strategic aspects of IR and is a theoretical highlight of the track. The seminar takes place during the first and the second year of the track's curriculum and is followed by the practicum project of the third year.
We will explore, through the meetings with experts from the world of academia and practice, topics pertaining to various aspects of contemporary strategy in public and private sectors. The goal of the seminar is to enable students to prepare their own research projects in the format of peer-reviewed academic articles, op-eds or think-tank pieces, and submit them for publication towards the end of the second year of the studies on the Honors Track.

Grading

Pass / Fail

Reading List

References to reading materials will be given in advance to the relevant meetings.