Get to Know Me

Huda Makhoul, MA

Group Facilitator

Houda is a lecturer, facilitator, and expert professional in education and human development with over 15 years of experience working with education systems and parents. She also serves as a parenting counselor at Clalit Health Services, and as a coordinator and instructor for supportive frameworks in the north on behalf of the national program for children and youth at risk.
Academically, she holds a BA in psychology and education, and an MA in education and human development with a specialization in early childhood from the University of Haifa, as well as a teaching certificate as a certified kindergarten teacher from Gordon College. Her professional work is characterized by a deep connection between academic-research knowledge and practical, applied field tools, aimed at building mental resilience, improving interpersonal communication, and helping people grow.