Get to Know Me

Hen Kedem, MA

Group Facilitator

Hen holds an MA from the Hebrew University of Jerusalem in organizational sociology, and a BA in sociology, anthropology, and international relations from the Hebrew University.
She is a graduate of a group-facilitation course from Bar-Ilan University. Hen has consulted for organizations for over 15 years in organizational development, from a positive-psychology perspective and toolkit: guiding change and strategy processes, management development, team development, workshops, evaluation and measurement, and personal coaching. Hen works with organizations in the business, social, and public sectors.