

Law and Humanities Workshop

Monday, June 6, 2022, 17:00

Reichman University, Ofer-Arazi building, second floor,
Communications meeting room C228

The workshop hosts scholars engaged in inter- and multidisciplinary work in law and the humanities and encourages in-depth explorations of new possibilities for thinking about the relations between law and other cultural practices, and between the study of law and the study of human existence in the humanities.

The next meeting will host

Professor Susanna Blumenthal

William Prosser Professor of Law and Professor of History, University of Minnesota

to discuss "Lying and the Single Girl: Toward a Genealogy of the Pathological Liar," a chapter from her book in progress, The Apprehension of Fraud in Modern America.

Comments:

Naama Maor, History, Tel Aviv University

Gil Rothschild-Elyassi, Law, The University of Haifa

Ronny Regev Ronny Regev, History, The Hebrew University

For registration and reading material, please contact the workshop coordinator, corrine.levi@idc.ac.il