

Argov Fellows Program in Leadership & Diplomacy

Building on the legacy of former Israeli Ambassador Shlomo Argov z"l, the Argov Fellows Program acts as a leadership accelerator to prepare exceptional students from all Reichman University schools for future leadership positions in a wide range of fields, both in Israel and overseas. The program accepts around 20 students from all Reichman University degree programs in their final year of studies. (It is also possible to participate in the program the year after completing a bachelor's degree.)

Through a challenging interdisciplinary curriculum, the Argov Fellows Program strives to give students the knowledge, tools, and skills necessary to meet the many challenges that Israel faces in today's complex global environment. Conducted entirely in English, it combines academic training, practical skills workshops, and extensive experiential learning experiences. The program's unique curriculum includes courses, seminars, and workshops by leading academic and professional experts from Israel and around the world, taught exclusively to Argov Fellows.

Students also participate in study tours to the United States, Taiwan, and throughout Israel. The fellowship year concludes with a public presentation of capstone group policy projects, in which the fellows propose their solutions to major policy challenges facing Israel and the Jewish people.

Upon graduation, fellows become members of the Argov Alumni Association. As the program enters its 21st year, close to 450 Argov alumni are making a difference around the world. Many of the program's graduates have gone on to prestigious fellowship programs (such as Rhodes and Fulbright), graduate programs at leading universities around the world, and key positions in the public, private, and nonprofit sectors worldwide.
