Student Union

Opening

The Reichman University Student Union is proud to present one of the key tools for your success during your studies here - the Student Clubs.

The clubs at Reichman University are not merely a platform for broadening academic and general knowledge, they are a true bridge to the professional world, providing real hands-on experience.

Here, you'll find a place to express yourself, take initiative and grow, while creating valuable connections with leading figures in the industry.

We invite you to seize these unique opportunities - to participate, to learn, to explore, and to think outside the box. The clubs serve as fertile ground for personal growth, innovative learning, and professional and managerial development – opportunities which create a gateway to the “real world”.

The clubs are a unique social platform and one of the crown jewels of Reichman University.

Here you'll meet students from all faculties, expand your professional and social network, and enjoy shared experiences that go far beyond classroom hours. The clubs are an integral part of what makes Reichman University more than just an academic institution – they make it a true home and nurturing environment, where students grow both personally and socially.

Today, the university offers over 60 clubs and programs across a wide range of fields, ensuring that every student can find their place.

Remember - you came here to grow, to develop, and to fulfill your potential beyond academic learning. The clubs are your key to success.

The vision of the Reichman University Student Union is centered on empowering students, providing them with the tools to succeed, and promoting the values of Zionism, partnership, initiative, and responsibility.

We are deeply committed to serving the interests of our students and invite you to be part of a proactive, supportive community that is shaping the future generation of Israeli society.

We wish you a successful academic year, filled with personal and professional growth.

Sincerely, The Reichman University Student Union

Discover The Club

The Pay It Forward Club at Reichman University is kicking off its first year, bringing students together to make a real difference through meaningful volunteering. From supporting families in need and helping rescue animals, to working with refugee children and global health initiatives, members will experience a wide variety of hands-on projects. The club is all about compassion, connection, and growth—giving students the chance to learn, lead, and create positive change while building a strong community of peers who care.

Who are we looking for?

We are looking for committed and enthusiastic Reichman University students who are ready to dedicate their time, skills, and energy toward meaningful volunteering. Applicants should be willing to attend regular meetings, actively participate in volunteer projects, and uphold the club's values of respect and professionalism while representing Pay It Forward in the community. We welcome students with diverse backgrounds, experiences, and passions—whether in education, elderly care, youth empowerment, animal welfare, or beyond—who can bring unique strengths such as leadership, creativity, teamwork, or organizational skills. Most importantly, we seek individuals who are reliable, open to collaboration, and motivated to make a lasting difference through service.

We open the gateway for students to the vast world of asset management and investments, combining theoretical knowledge, practical experience, and industry connections. As part of our activities, we will host leading experts and financial institutions from Israel and abroad including JP Morgan, IBI, and a real Israeli shark. Members will engage in hands-on work such as analyzing investment opportunities and building portfolios. We will cover decision making process of an asset management firm - from developing investment strategies and managing risk to real-time market adjustments. Alongside this, we will organize Mix & Mingle events with professionals, hold workshops, and lead discussions on topics such as capital markets, alternative investments, real estate funds, venture capital, and more.

Who are we looking for?

We are looking for students who are eager to learn, grow, and explore the world of asset management & investments, while connecting with like-minded peers who share the same curiosity and ambition. Membership in AMC requires real commitment, actively participating, contributing, and engaging in both the learning opportunities as well as the community we are building together.

The Masters Club is an exclusive community for graduate students at Reichman University who aim to go beyond theory and make things happen. It unites ambitious, entrepreneurial, and impact-driven students from all master's programs – including the international school – to connect, grow, and lead through real experience. Each session combines action-based workshops, live simulations, and talks with leading Israeli experts in entrepreneurship, leadership, negotiation, creativity, and networking. This is where you'll meet your future business partners, co-founders, and lifelong allies – the best people from across the university who, like you, are ready to step forward and lead.

Who are we looking for?

We're looking for doers: graduate students who think big, act fast, and want to learn through experience. Those who are ready to challenge themselves, expand their circle, and connect with the sharpest minds at Reichman.

We are Reichman University's resident Model United Nations club — and, not to brag, but we're currently the top MUN club in Israel! Model United Nations (MUN) is a simulation where students take on the roles of diplomats representing countries in UN committees. Together, they debate pressing global issues, draft resolutions, and develop key skills in negotiation, public speaking, and critical thinking. By joining RUMUN, you'll have the chance to participate in international conferences, compete at our very own RUMUN conference, and enjoy plenty of fun social events. Our amazing management team is here to guide you and help you become the best delegate you can be!

Who are we looking for?

RUMUN is looking for motivated students with a passion for global issues. Our club is perfect for those who are driven, competitive, and ambitious, while also being friendly, kind, hardworking, committed, and collaborative. We value delegates who debate with purpose, not just for the sake of arguing. Since MUN is conducted in English, strong English proficiency is required. Whether you're an experienced delegate or completely new to Model UN, if you're excited about global affairs, public speaking, or joining a dynamic and supportive community, we'd love to see you at tryouts!

The Music Club is a creative, social, and professional space where you can explore, grow – and simply enjoy music.

In the club, you'll gain hands-on tools for songwriting, music production, live performance, and creative collaboration, all within a supportive community.

We operate through dynamic teams focused on writing, production, media, logistics, and most importantly – performing!

Members of the club get a unique opportunity to perform at on-campus and off-campus events – a rare chance to step onto the stage, build confidence, and refine your craft as a singer or instrumentalist.

Whether it's your very first step or you're already experienced, you're invited to join us and enjoy the shared language that connects us all: music.

Who are we looking for?

People who live and breathe music – including those who sing play instruments, write, or create original songs

Reichman's first-ever printed and digital newsletter is here, and you can help build it from day one. The Journalism Club brings together students from every faculty to publish a bold, creative, and beautifully designed newsletter each month. Printed in 300+ copies and shared online, it features everything from articles to crosswords, interviews, and student startup spotlights. Your name will be on every piece you create, and your voice could go far beyond campus. With partnerships in the works with leading Israeli media, this is your chance to shape ideas, build a portfolio, and be part of something fresh, smart, and impactful. This is new. This is exciting. And this is your chance to be part of something bold, relevant, and impactful.

Who are we looking for?

Anyone with ideas — and the drive to put it out into the world.

Writers, designers, startup founders, event creators — if you want your work to be seen and remembered, this is your space.

Join us. Create. Write. Share.

Think big. Start here.

TECHTALK

The TechTalk program is one of the few programs on campus that accepts students from both the Israeli school and the international school. The program is held in the English language and hosts every week an entrepreneur from a different industry who during the meeting will shed light on the market in which he is located. He will talk about the difficulties, successes, and challenges that stood in his way.

Who is suitable for the program?

We are looking for students with an interest in exploring how technology intersects with various industries and niches. The club is open to both Israeli and international students. Prior experience in the tech field is not required, but it can be helpful. The ideal candidate is open-minded and eager to learn about new sectors of technology and innovation.
