President, Reichman University

UDI RECANATI
Chancellor
Reichman University

At the beginning of each academic year, I am always amazed to see our freshman students, who hail from over 90 countries, enter the Raphael Recanati International School, filled with promise and ambition. Three years later, I have the pleasure of hosting these students at our home, where I am equally amazed by the growth and maturity they exhibit, their knowledge of Israel and its history, and their understanding of the miracle of the Zionist dream. These young men and women are the future leaders of Israel and of the Diaspora, endowed with the tools and knowledge to excel wherever life takes them.

I feel very fortunate to be part of this outstanding academic institution, which fills me with pride and hope for the future of Israel and the continuity of the Jewish people.

RAPHAEL RECANATI

Raphael Recanati, after whom Reichman University's Raphael Recanati International School is named, was the founder and chairman of the Overseas Shipholding Group and chairman of the Israel Discount Bank from 1982 to 1986. He and his brothers, Danny and Jacques, founded the IDB Group and continued to develop it until his passing in 1999.

All three brothers were instrumental in developing industry, transportation, high-tech, and the financial sector in Israel, with the goal of growing businesses that were in the interest of the struggling new nation headed by David Ben-Gurion and Minister of Finance Pinchas Sapir. Born in Salonika (now Thessaloniki), Greece, Raphael Recanati immigrated to Israel with his family in 1935 and later joined the Palmach and the Haganah. He served as an emissary in Egypt during Aliyah Bet (clandestine immigration).

Throughout his lifetime, Raphael Recanati proved to be a steadfast philanthropist in the areas of medicine, education, and culture. This included contributing substantially to the development of Rabin Medical Center, Tel Aviv University School of Business, Ben-Gurion University School of Nursing, and other institutions throughout Israel. In the United States, known beneficiaries of his generosity include the Beth Israel Medical Center, the Recanati/Miller Transplantation Institute at Mount Sinai Hospital, and the UJA Federation of New York, among many others. Raphael Recanati was survived by his wife Dina z"l (born Hettena) and two sons: Michael, who passed away in 2015, and Oudi.

Our university proudly stands at the forefront in the State of Israel, leading all universities and colleges in terms of student satisfaction. Furthermore, in a survey conducted by Pitchbook, Reichman University earned the esteemed rank of sixth in the world for excellence in entrepreneurship in universities for less than 15,000 students.

At the heart of our institution lies the Raphael Recanati International School, where academic excellence, entrepreneurship, and tender love and care converge under the guidance of our dedicated staff. With unwavering commitment, our team stands ready to support our students through every challenge and triumph. Home to 2,500 international students hailing from 90 different countries, we proudly claim the title of the largest international university in the State of Israel. STUDENT SERVICES AND BENEFITS

At Reichman University, students are at the heart of everything we do. From enrollment through graduation, they receive ongoing support and guidance to help them thrive academically and personally, and ensure a smooth transition into the job market. We prioritize direct and meaningful communication, offering our students personalized attention, high-quality services, and state-of-the-art teaching facilities. With an open-door policy and a strong commitment to student success, our faculty and staff are always accessible, providing the tools and resources students need at every stage of their academic journey.

● PEER COUNSELORS

Some of Reichman University's distinguishing characteristics include the personal attention afforded to students and the family atmosphere on campus. As part of this, first-year students are assigned a peer counselor, a second- or third-year Israeli student, who is tasked with helping them acculturate to Reichman University and Israel. The peer counselor's role is to provide a "soft landing" and accompany the new students throughout their first year of studies. Besides offering academic guidance and personal and social support to the students, the peer counselors assist them with their absorption in Israel and help bridge the multi-cultural gaps.

● ORIENTATION WEEK

One of Reichman University's most innovative and important services is a week-long orientation for first-year students. Orientation Week is designed to make students' entry into the academic environment as smooth as possible. The orientation program allows new students to meet one another, get acquainted with the academic and administrative staff, check out the campus facilities, and engage in lectures and discussions. It includes various social activities, informational sessions regarding administration, the use of campus facilities, and a full-day excursion that is pure fun!

Participation in Orientation Week is mandatory for all first-year students.

● THE STUDENT UNION

This body represents all students at Reichman University and comprises hundreds of student volunteers. Its activities focus on three main levels: handling and representing students in academic matters, ensuring the welfare of students on campus, and promoting student initiatives and projects. Among other things, the Student Union includes dozens of social and professional clubs created to benefit students on campus.

Among the services offered by the Student Union are: assistance in dealing with academic problems for reservists, representatives, and coordinators of the different tracks; a delegation to Poland for Hebrew and English speakers; representation in university disciplinary committees; an enriching network; scholarships and administrative services; production of some of the largest cultural events in these students' world; promoting the environment and sustainability; ongoing welfare; lending calculators and a dictionary and more.

● DEAN OF STUDENTS

Dr. Adi Kol, the Dean of Students, deals with various general and personal problems students may face, working to solve them in the best possible way. The Dean is responsible, among other things, for scholarships for Israelis; students with learning disabilities, and other populations with special needs; caring for and assisting students serving in the reserves in maintaining their rights throughout their studies; psychological services; the Center for Accessibility and Fostering Study Skills; addressing students' personal problems (rather than academic problems); social activities; and involvement and contribution to the community, through a variety of projects in various fields.

The Reichman University Media Innovation Lab (milab) in the Sammy Ofer School of Communication is an academic research and prototyping lab that explores the future of human-computer interaction. Key research areas include social robots, tangible interfaces, mobile and wearable computing, ethics, UX/UI design, learning technologies, and biological interfaces. ● THE ZELL ENTREPRENEURSHIP PROGRAM

The Zell Entrepreneurship Program is a venture creation initiative for exceptional individuals to help shape Israel's next generation of business leaders. During the transformative year-long program, participants develop a business venture from concept to launch and boost their personal and professional development. The program combines a multidisciplinary approach and embodies a 'learning by doing' ethos, enabling participants to develop skills while creating their own startups.

Admission criteria for the Zell Entrepreneurship Program include demonstrated leadership ability, high academic standing, and experience in or familiarity with business or social entrepreneurship. Each year, the faculty selects 16-20 outstanding individuals out of hundreds of applicants. Nearly all Zell fellows have completed their undergraduate academic duties or are in their final year of graduate studies and are interested in extending their studies to participate in the Zell program.

Upon graduation, participants should have launched a venture, become a part of an international and local support network, and developed the confidence, resources, and mentorship needed to obtain their highest personal and professional development goals. The Zell journey is a lifelong commitment, extending beyond the program through the Zell alumni organization, which is dedicated to supporting alumni in their continuous personal and professional development.

The program was established thanks to a generous contribution from the late world-renowned entrepreneur Sam Zell. Over the past 24 years, Zell alumni have established over 170 companies, of which more than 70 are currently active. Over 30 companies have been acquired, and 5 have become listed companies. Collectively, these companies have raised $5.7 billion and created 7,000 new jobs.

● THE ARGOV FELLOWS PROGRAM IN LEADERSHIP AND DIPLOMACY

Building on the legacy of former Israeli Ambassador Shlomo Argov z"l, the Argov Fellows Program acts as a leadership accelerator to prepare exceptional students from all Reichman University schools for future leadership positions in a wide range of fields, in Israel and overseas. The program accepts around 20 students from all Reichman University degree programs in their final year of studies. (It is also possible to participate in the program the year after completing a bachelor's degree.)

Through its challenging interdisciplinary curriculum, the Argov Program strives to give students the knowledge, tools, and skills needed to meet the many challenges Israel faces within the global arena. Conducted entirely in English, it combines academic training, practical skills workshops, and extensive experiential learning. The program's unique curriculum includes courses, seminars, and workshops by leading academic and professional experts from Israel and around the world, taught exclusively to Argov Fellows.

Students also participate in study tours to Europe, the United States, Taiwan, and throughout Israel. The fellowship year concludes with a public presentation of capstone group policy projects, in which the fellows propose their solutions to major policy challenges facing Israel and the Jewish people.

Upon graduation, fellows become members of the Argov Alumni Association. As the program enters its 20th year, over 400 Argov alumni are already making a difference around the world. Many of the program's graduates have gone on to participate in prestigious fellowship programs (such as Rhodes and Chevening), complete graduate programs at leading universities around the world, and hold key positions in the public, private, and nonprofit sectors, worldwide.

● PUBLIC DIPLOMACY PROGRAM

The Public Diplomacy program is a first-of-its-kind honors program, combining high-quality, diverse, and innovative academic content with advanced practical training in the field of 21st century public diplomacy. Jointly offered by the Sammy Ofer School of Communication, the Lauder School of Government, the Abba Eban Institute for International Diplomacy, and the Act-IL initiative, the program provides third-year students with the opportunity to learn from leading scholars and senior professionals in public diplomacy from both Israel and abroad.

Under the leadership of Prof. Moran Yarchi, it integrates content from government, communication, and marketing courses to give students an in-depth understanding of the interdisciplinary diplomatic landscape and equip them with the skills to navigate the challenges of today's Information Age.

Each year, the program welcomes some 20 honors students (both Israeli and international). In addition to extensive academic knowledge, the program offers various workshops that introduce students to practical tools for content creation, message promotion, and shaping public opinion in the digital age. A unique internship opportunity at Act-IL allows students to apply these tools in a real-world setting. Act-IL harnesses the power of communities to respond to antisemitism and anti-Israel expressions on social media, teaching students systematic crowdsource methods and effective online activism.

The Public Diplomacy Program works in collaboration with the Abba Eban Institute for International Diplomacy at Reichman University, led by Amb. Mark Regev. This collaboration provides students with invaluable exposure to experts from the fields of business, media, civil society, and government, who not only share their know-how during hands-on workshops, but also create incredible networking opportunities for the students.

Taught entirely in English, the year-long Public Diplomacy Program ensures students receive a comprehensive and immersive educational experience.

● VISA & STATUS ASSISTANCE

Students are responsible for clarifying and establishing their status in Israel, and are welcome to turn to the Raphael Recanati International School staff for advice and assistance. Before commencing studies, all students must clarify their status and eligibility for a student visa (A-2) or Israeli citizenship with the Israeli embassy or consulate in their country of origin.

A student visa should be obtained in advance, in the student's country of origin. International students who are children of an Israeli parent must settle all matters, such as whether they must obtain an Israeli passport and deferment of military service, with the nearest Israeli embassy or consulate.

For students considering making Aliyah (immigrating to Israel): <https://www.jewishagency.org/aliyah/>, or from North America www.nbn.org.il

● HEALTH INSURANCE

All Reichman University students are required to have comprehensive health insurance coverage throughout the entire period of their studies. Israeli residents, including new immigrants, receive national health insurance for a low monthly fee, in accordance with the country's health insurance legislation. International students who are not covered by Israel's national health insurance (Bituach Leumi) should purchase their own health insurance policy to cover their medical needs while in Israel or purchase the UMS HAREL YEDIDIM insurance policy for international students, offered by Reichman University.

Our special arrangement with HAREL YEDIDIM insurance company provides comprehensive health coverage for $1,400 USD* per academic year, charged at the beginning of each year.

In order to have continuous coverage, the policy is automatically renewed from one academic year to the next until the scheduled end of the program, unless a student notifies the school that they wish to cancel in writing.

Rates are subject to change according to insurance company rate fluctuations.*

● LEARNING HEBREW - ULPAN

Hebrew is offered to RRIS students as an elective course for credit. Interested students take a placement test and are put into appropriate classes based on their test results. Classes are designed to help students feel comfortable speaking Hebrew.

In addition, Reichman University offers a five-week intensive summer Hebrew Ulpan, which allows Reichman University students to learn Hebrew during the summer vacation.

The Ulpan is run in conjunction with the Ministry of Education and the Ministry of Aliyah and Integration, and offers five levels of intensive Hebrew instruction. Please note that summer Ulpan students are responsible for their own accommodation.

● GOOGLE AND REICHMAN TECH SCHOOL

Launched in 2022, the Google and Reichman University Tech School was established to collaboratively advance Israel's high-tech industry. The school merges Reichman University's academic excellence with Google's technological innovation to offer state-of-the-art training for the next generation of professionals. With academically supervised courses, the school is committed to developing talents from all segments of Israeli society, empowering them to become the future technology leaders of the artificial intelligence era.

● INNOVATION CENTER

The world's accelerated revolution in the fields of science and technology requires up-to-date and innovative academic frameworks that train students to face the changing reality. As part of the new multifaceted approach, an interdisciplinary technological and scientific research center has been established at our university's core, bringing together researchers and experts from various fields of knowledge under one roof and serving as fertile ground for unique creativity.

The joint work of researchers at the Innovation Center, led by Prof. Noam Lemelstrich-Latar, answers the need to reshape the social sciences field, encouraging entrepreneurship and innovation among students to respond to existing or future needs in society and industry. As part of the Innovation Center, students work on applied projects with those specializing in other fields and with industry partners. The Innovation Center led Reichman University to embark on research in life sciences with the establishment of the Scojen Institute for Synthetic Biology, led by Prof. Yosi Shachar Diamand, to become a part of the new Dina Recanati Medical School.

DINA RECANATI SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

PROF. ARNON AFEK
DEAN

Studies in this school are taught in Hebrew

The growing shortage of doctors poses a real danger to Israel's medical field. The State of Israel needs 2,000 new doctors annually, but it trains only 30% of them. The rest are forced to study abroad, some in medical schools with very low standards. What's more, the current reality, in which the State of Israel sends some of its best citizens—graduates of military service, people who volunteered with Magen David Adom for many years—to study abroad on their own dime, creates a moral issue.

Understanding this predicament and the need to train all the physicians required by the Israeli healthcare system, Reichman University opened a new medical school and joined forces with Israel's top medical institutions: Rabin Medical Center, Clalit Health Services, Maccabi Healthcare Services, and Sheba Medical Center at Tel Hashomer.

With the generous support of the Recanati family, we established the Dina Recanati School of Medicine, striving to educate the physicians of tomorrow. The school serves as a global model for educating future physicians in a professional, innovative, multidisciplinary, and personal manner. This is done by applying new methods in medical education such as simulations, virtual reality, and 3D printing. One of these innovative methods is a first-of-its-kind learning model, where students learn in groups of 10, led by a designated experienced physician. Practical training in clinical fields, excellence in interdisciplinary research, and attention to medicine-based technologies such as AI and Big Data add to this global model.

DINA RECANATI

It emphasizes interdisciplinary learning, requiring students to combine legal studies with another field, such as Government, Business, or Psychology, reflecting our belief that integration enhances intellectual depth and practical understanding.

Theoretical and interdisciplinary study is interwoven with hands-on training. Students engage in academic courses and seminars led by leading Israeli and international scholars. We also welcome guest professors from top global institutions such as Harvard, Yale, Stanford, Columbia, and others. A variety of workshops, led by experienced lawyers and judges, help develop practical skills. Legal clinics allow students to provide real legal aid, applying their knowledge under professional supervision.

Globalization is central to our vision. Beyond academics, the school fosters a vibrant community life. Students participate in conferences, seminars, joint programs with international universities, study tours, journal publications, and social events.

In short, the Harry Radzyner Law School is committed to shaping versatile, globally minded legal professionals equipped to thrive in modern-day legal professions.

BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION SPECIALIZATIONS:

● SPECIALIZATION IN MARKETING

Dr. Talia Rymon, Head

This specialization provides students with extensive knowledge of modern and data-driven marketing in the technological era. The courses are designed to provide theoretical as well as practical knowledge, and enable hands-on experience and practical tool acquisition through workshops, real-world projects, case study analyses, company visits, and guest lectures by leading marketing and business managers. During the last year of their studies, students who specialize in marketing work on year-long practical marketing projects and prepare comprehensive marketing plans for leading firms, startups, and organizations. Increasing emphasis is placed on the role of artificial intelligence and automation in shaping the future of marketing, equipping students with the skills they need to leverage emerging technologies to gain strategic advantages.

The specialization prepares students to succeed in leading positions in a myriad of industries, including as marketing managers, digital managers, marcom managers, product marketing managers, and brand managers. Students also gain knowledge and skills to work in companies that provide various marketing services, including: advertising, public relations, digital marketing, marketing consultancy, and marketing research. Throughout the program—and reinforced by a year-long, credit-bearing internship in a high-tech firm—students apply what they learn in real industry settings, graduating ready to design, analyze and deliver next-generation solutions.

● SPECIALIZATION IN FINANCE

Prof. Yaniv Grinstein, Head

The growing globalization of markets and stock exchanges, as well as the multitude of new and sophisticated financial tools on the market, have compelled companies to use high-level financial tools and approaches. Today's companies cannot survive in their competitive markets without using the most advanced tools to price assets, raise capital, select projects for investment, manage risk, and undertake mergers and acquisitions.

This specialization prepares students to succeed in lucrative positions at financial institutions, banks, and insurance companies, as well as in the financial departments of corporations and consulting firms. It provides the right balance between theoretical foundations and practical courses, and teaches students how to obtain and manage sources of capital. In addition, it introduces students to advanced technological innovations in the field of finance, such as cryptocurrency and blockchain technology.

DOUBLE MAJOR IN BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION AND ECONOMICS

In the competitive marketplace, interdisciplinary knowledge provides our graduates with a significant advantage in various professional and academic fields. Business executives must be equipped with a solid understanding of the factors that shape the local and global economy, and economists must possess both theoretical and practical tools. A multidimensional understanding of the global economy and financial marketplace provides students with the quantitative and analytical skills required to succeed in both the private and public sectors.

Our courses in economics develop analytical thinking, which is crucial when working in a complex environment. Understanding how markets work, how prices are determined under different market structures, and how regulation affects businesses and individuals allows you to make better decisions once you are in a leading role in the business world or in the public sector. Studying methods of data analysis opens doors to exciting positions that require advanced analytical abilities. The Business Administration courses provide tools that are essential in order to operate in the business world: finance and marketing; digital communication; business law; business strategy; and leadership.

Our three-year program provides students with a broad view of the fundamentals with which they must be familiar in order to understand the problems and methods of coping with the economic and administrative challenges facing economists and business executives. The curriculum combines knowledge, tools, theory, and practice to train students for management positions in an ever-changing reality.

INTERNSHIPS

Our students are offered internships in various fields, such as the startup scene, the financial industry, and government.

SPECIAL ACTIVITIES

Academic Field Tours

Our program includes field studies to central organizations in the Israeli economy, such as the Knesset, the Bank of Israel, commercial banks, and companies such as Google. These tours give our students a glimpse into how economics works in practice, as well as invaluable exposure to the Israeli economy and the labor market.

Policy Seminar

In our unique seminar, students hear lectures on current economic policy issues from top policymakers and academics from Israel and abroad. At the end of the seminar, students write a professional policy paper and produce academic posters that are presented during a special celebration.

The double major BA degree in Business Administration and Economics consists of approximately 120 academic credits and is designed to be completed over a period of three years (six semesters). First-year students are required to complete a preparatory course in mathematics before they begin their studies. Students who did not attend high school taught in English may be required to take courses in English language proficiency.

DOUBLE MAJOR IN ECONOMICS AND ENTREPRENEURSHIP WITH DATA SCIENCE

Entrepreneurs who are also economists have an outstanding advantage: They are equipped with a deep understanding of both the industry to which they wish to contribute and the macroeconomic changes that will affect their business. The combination of economics and entrepreneurship allows our students unique flexibility in their career choices. Graduates can be entrepreneurs or independent business owners, consultants or employees at corporations. They can work in the private sector (mainly in high-tech and fintech) or the public sector.

The entrepreneur, who is also an economist, must be ready for the data revolution. This program prepares students by equipping them with technological tools, with a special focus on data analysis.

Students in this program learn entrepreneurship, economics, and data analysis. Many of the courses involve practical work, team projects, and presentations. Extracurricular activities include meetings with leading figures in industry, tours, and hackathons.

In their third year, students take on practical projects that involve collaboration with industry.

The double major in Economics and Entrepreneurship with Data Science consists of 122 credits and is designed to be completed in a period of three years (six semesters). First-year students are required to complete a preparatory course in mathematics before they begin their studies. Students who did not attend a high school taught in English may be required to take courses in English language proficiency.

BA GOVERNMENT

The BA program in Government prepares students for careers in the fields of public policy and administration, diplomacy, consulting, and security. Set in the Middle East, students in the program will gain a unique understanding of geopolitical events that affect the region and the entire world.

A special focus is put on the inner workings of Israeli society, including Israeli constitutional law, foreign policy, and national security.

Thanks to its strong emphasis on theory, leadership, and practical experience, this degree equips students with the practical skills they need in their future studies and careers.

Foundational academic courses, such as Contemporary International Politics; Political Communication; The Arab-Israeli Conflict and the Peace Process; AI and Government; The Politics of Climate Change; and American Government and Politics, are combined with interactive skills-oriented workshops, hands-on simulations, internships (for credit), and briefings and informal meetings with key public figures.

Starting in their second year, students specialize in Diplomacy and Global Affairs or in Security Studies and Counter-Terrorism. In their third year, students may also select a cluster, further developing and sharpening their theoretical and practical skills.

POLICY IN ACTION

● THE INSTITUTE FOR POLICY AND STRATEGY (IPS)

The Institute for Policy and Strategy (IPS) at Reichman University, the convener of the Annual Herzliya Conference Series, aspires to contribute to Israel's national security and resilience by conducting integrative and comprehensive policy analysis on the national challenges, producing strategic insights and policy recommendations for decision-makers, and informing the public and policy discourse.

Main Pillars

The Institute's policy agenda focuses on two main issues: The first and primary is the identification of opportunities and risks for Israel in the Middle East arena and in a global setting. Special emphasis is placed on identifying dynamic regional shifts that enhance the threat posed by Iran, alongside developing new strategic relationships between Israel and the Arab states.

The second is Israel's national resilience as a foundation for national security. This pillar highlights the fact that domestic weakness negatively reflects on Israel's ability to cope with both internal and external crises.

Herzliya Conference

The annual Herzliya Conference on the balance of Israel's national security is IPS's flagship activity. The conference draws international and Israeli participants from the highest levels of government, business, and academia to address pressing national, regional, and global issues.

Acceptance of these applicants is contingent upon receipt of final transcripts that show they graduated and that their final grades are similar to those earned in previous semesters. Applicants who have completed at least 30 credits at university or community college may submit those transcripts in lieu of high school transcripts and a standardized test.

Applicants applying to quantitative degree programs will still be required to submit their high school transcripts, even if they have completed 30 or more university/college credits.

The recommendation letters can be in either English or Hebrew and must be submitted directly by the recommender to the appropriate admissions officer or to rris.registrar@runi.ac.il. Emails with the recommendation letters should include the name of the applicant and program to which they are applying.

8. Transfer Students

In order to receive credits or exemptions for courses taken at another accredited academic institution, students must submit a detailed syllabus in English for each course for which they are requesting credit and/or an exemption. Applicants can only submit credits for approval once they have been accepted and confirmed their place in their chosen class by paying the $1,050 USD confirmation fee. Reichman University is not obligated to grant credit for courses taken at other academic institutions. In order to be eligible for a degree from Reichman University, students must earn at least 60% of their credits at Reichman University and must be enrolled at Reichman University for a minimum of two years.

Reichman University will only consider awarding credit for courses taken within five years of a student's request.

9. Deadline

All forms and documents must be submitted to the Raphael Recanati International School's Admissions Office by July 15, 2026. Applications will not be reviewed or considered until all required documents are submitted. Applications submitted after this date will be reviewed based on availability, and admission will be subject to compliance with the admissions requirements, as well as the approval of the Admissions Committee. Applicants who apply after July 15, 2026 may also be placed on a waiting list.

10. Admissions Decisions

Admissions decisions are based on a combination of academic and personal criteria: high school grades; standardized test scores (if applicable); letters of recommendation; curriculum vitae (resume); and a personal essay.

The RRIS has a rolling admissions process, and applicants should receive a response within two weeks of the date they submitted all required application materials.
