

Jaron Lotan has served in key executive roles with leading, Israeli based, technology companies for the last 37 years. He currently devotes most of his time to social initiatives related to Arab-Jewish cooperation and co-existence in Israel and consults to business in board or mentorship capacities.

Until recently and for close to 7 years Jaron was President and CEO of AVT Ltd., a WW leader in automated inspection and quality control for the Printing industry. AVT was sold to Danaher (NYSE:DHR) . Previously Jaron worked 10 years at Orbotech as President of EMEA, President of the PCB Division and EVP Business and Strategy, Served as the President & CEO of Tecnomatix (Sold to UGS/ Siemens PLM) and as COO & CBO of Gilat Satellite Networks.

Today Jaron serves as Co-GM of “Medical Wadi” – an Arab-Jewish initiative to establish a public health center in Wadi Ara and serves on the advisory board of the Center for Economic Policy of the Israeli Arab Society at the Aharon Institute.

Jaron lives in Raanana with his Wife Tsippy, they have three children and two grandchildren. He holds a BA in Economics and Mathematics and an MA in Economics, both with honors from the Hebrew University of Jerusalem.