

A letter to our recent graduates and students

The class of 2020 who was supposed to march with their beautiful graduation robes on the IDC lawn on June 2020 was forced to stay far and distant. Yet this is not to say that we can't honor them on their hard work from afar, using digital tools.

I invite you all to read this digital yearbook, in which we collected the personal career stories of our recent grads. This is a diverse international group, that came to IDC from different continents and work now in various parts of the world. Since our program is young, it is great to see what are the possible career opportunities to our recent grads. Congratulations dear class of 2020!! It is certainly a tough year to be out, but I was delighted to read about your jobs and personal success. We wish you to continue to succeed in your life, and please be in touch with all of us at the IDC family.
