

Dr. Moshe Albo

Dr. Moshe Albo, Senior Researcher

Dr. Moshe Albo is a senior researcher in the Institute for Policy and Strategy at IDC Herzliya. He is a PHD graduate in Middle Eastern studies from Ben Gurion University of the Negev. He is an expert in security and strategy issues in the Middle East, and a researcher in modern Middle East history and contemporary Islamic discourse. Dr Albo is a retired lieutenant colonel from the IDF. He served as the head of an arena in the research division in the Military Intelligence Directorate (J2), and as the head of the International Cooperation Unit in the Planning Directorate (J5). Throughout his 27 years of service, he carried out various positions in Intelligence research, international military cooperation and strategic planning. Dr Albo is also working as a senior analyst in Dado Center for interdisciplinary military thought - A Military Strategy & Policy Think Tank, where his research focuses on military transformation and contemporary military thought in the Middle East and the International arena.