Mariam Shehadi-Haj, MA

Group Facilitator

Mariam holds a BA in psychology and management information systems, and an MA in learning disabilities from the University of Haifa. She currently lectures at Oranim Academic College of Education and is a doctoral student in the Faculty of Education in Science and Technology at the Technion.

Mariam has extensive experience in teaching, training educators, and delivering professional development for teachers. She believes that the principles of positive psychology can contribute to personal growth, resilience, and wellbeing for children and adults alike, and works to integrate them in both her academic/educational work and her personal life.
