Ifat Yeari, MA

Group Facilitator, Head of Organizations and Community

Ifat holds an MA in organizational psychology from the Technion and brings extensive experience in group facilitation, team development, and organizational process guidance. She previously held various HR roles in Israel, the US, and Japan, and also taught in the graduate program in organizational development at the University of Haifa.
Throughout her career she has guided dozens of managers and teams from a range of business and public-sector organizations. In her work as a positive-psychology facilitator, Ifat combines theoretical background with practical approaches through open dialogue and experiential team processes.
