The Andrew H. and Ann R. Tisch Center

The Andrew H. and Ann R. Tisch Center for Jewish Dialogue at the Museum of the Jewish People at Beit Hatfutsot was established as a platform that encourages respectful, ongoing dialogue about the critical issues at the heart of Jewish life today. It ensures that every legitimate voice in the Jewish world is heard and represented. There was no better place to create the Tisch Center than at the Museum of the Jewish People at Beit Hatfutsot, which tells the story of all Jewish People in the past and present, with an eye on the future. The center serves as a voice for unity in troubled times, when polarization and discord dominate the political and cultural discourse. We established the Center in response to a serious threat: the possibility of the Jewish People losing their togetherness. We believe that our strength comes first and foremost from our unity. The new Center will offer events, conferences and seminars as well as expand and inform our current activities and educational programs in Israel and abroad.
