

January 2011

ALEX CUKIERMAN - CURRICULUM VITA

e-mail: alexcuk@idc.ac.il

Tel: + 972-9-952-7995

A. Areas of Interest and Research

Macro and Monetary Economics with particular emphasis on the economics and politics of central banking, Interaction between Monetary Institutions and Labor Market Institutions, The Global Financial Crisis – Implications for Regulatory Reform and Central Bank Policy, European Monetary Unification, Choice of Exchange Rate Regime and Speculative Attacks, Asymmetric Central Bank Preferences and Monetary Policy Rules, Political Economy and the Positive Theory of Economic Policy, Government Debt and Deficits, Imperfect Information, Inflation and Relative Prices, Inflationary Expectations and Business Cycles.

B. Education

1968/69-1972	M.I.T. Economics	Ph.D. Fall 1972
1964/65-1967	Economics with a minor in Hebrew University Business Administration	M.A. Fall 1967
1960/61-1963	Economics and Statistics Hebrew University	B.A. Fall 1963

C. Academic Positions (since the early eighties)

Since October 2010
Professor of Economics

Interdisciplinary Center, Herzelya

Spring 2009
Visiting Professor

University of Munich

Spring 2008
Visiting Professor

University of Bonn

Fall 2007
Visiting Research Fellow

European Central Bank

First Quarter 2007
Cruz

Department of Economics, UC-Santa
Visiting Professor

Academic Year 2005/06 University	Department of Economics, Princeton Visiting Professor
Springs 2001 & 2002	Department of Economics, Stanford University	Visiting Professor
Since 1984	Berglas School of Economics, Tel Aviv University	Professor of Economics
Spring 1995	University of Chicago- CSES	Visiting Professor
1994 - 2003	CentER, Tilburg University	Senior Research Fellow
Summers 1990 - 1992	World Bank	Visiting Research Fellow
Academic Year 1989/90	Department of Economics, Princeton University	Visiting Professor
Summer 1989	Free University of Berlin	Visiting Professor
1986- June 88	Department of Economics Tel Aviv University	Chairman
Summer 1985	Research Dep., Federal Reserve Bank of St-Louis	Visiting Research Fellow
1983-85	GSIA Carnegie-Mellon University	Visiting Professor

D. Teaching by Decreasing Order of Personal Preference

The Global Financial Crisis – Causes, Consequences and Policy Responses
Economics and Politics of Central Banking and Strategic Aspects of

Monetary Policy,
The International Monetary System
Macroeconomics (with particular emphasis on endogenous policymaking)
Political Economy, Inflation.

E. Other Professional Activities

- a . President - Israeli Economic Association: December 1995-
December 1997.
- b . Member - Commission on Reform of the Law of the Bank of Israel, 1998.
- c. Research Fellow , Center for Economic Policy Research (CEPR).
- d . Associate Editor - European Journal of Political Economy, 1991-
February 2000.
- e . Board of Editors of Economic Inquiry; 1985-1996.
- f. Associate Editor - European Economic Review, 1986-1987.
- g. Member of the Organizing Committee for the World Congress of the Econometric Society - Summer 1985.
- h. Consultant - Directorate-General for Economic and Financial Affairs (DG II) of the Commission of the European Communities, 1982-83.
- i. Editor, Economic Quarterly (in Hebrew).

F. Honors

Since 2009 ranked as First in Israel, Second in Asia and Top 2 percent of authors Worldwide by the RePec (Research papers in Economics) authors service (the ranking is in terms of a weighted impact index of worldwide scientific economic publications).

Listed in: Who is Who in Economics - A Biographical Dictionary of Major Economists 1700 - 1986, MIT Press and Wheatsheaf Books 1986.Who's Who in Economics, 2003, Fourth Edition, Edward Elgar, Cheltenham, UK and Northampton, MA, USA.

Prize: The 1993 Yavor prize for best paper on Development Issues. (The prize was awarded annually by the Horowitz Institute for Research on Developing Countries at Tel Aviv University).

Teaching: Student rated best Ph.D. course” in the 1995 Network of countrywide Ph.D. courses, Utrecht, The Netherlands for the course; “Central Bank Strategy, Credibility and Independence”, (out of 19 courses).