

Form for deposit of research papers (thesis, dissertation, etc.) and consent for availability

Institutions of higher education have an important role in creating, providing, and distributing academic knowledge to researchers, students, and the public in general. For this reason, it is important to allow unrestricted access to research findings, including theses and dissertations, without charge. This transition to the unrestricted availability of research results has become a global trend, and it is our hope that Israel will join this revolution to offer knowledge gained through research to the general public.

We also hope that making such documents available will lead to greater exposure of Israeli researchers (research authors and supervisors) and encourage collaborations with them.
