

Zell Entrepreneurship Program

The Zell Entrepreneurship Program is for outstanding students who have the ambition and ability to launch an entrepreneurial venture. The program was established thanks to a generous contribution from world-renowned entrepreneur Sam Zell, of Chicago. The program, which is taught in English, aims to provide a practical platform for participants to launch a business. Over the course of an academic year, the program provides students with the practical tools and theoretical knowledge to develop and realize a business vision, from the inception of an idea to fruition of a company producing value.

The program includes the following components:

Venture creation: The core of the program is the venture creation field study. During summer vacation, students divide into teams and select an idea for a venture. Throughout the year, the teams work toward establishing their ventures – examining potential ideas, analyzing the business environment, developing business and marketing plans, building business models and actually opening their own businesses, to the extent possible. Each team is assigned a business mentor and has access to a board of faculty and business advisors.

Advanced Entrepreneurial Courses: As they work toward establishing their ventures, students take courses and workshops with an entrepreneurial orientation in finance, accounting, marketing strategy, new product development, branding, and positioning, legal and tax aspects, psychological aspects, business presentation, new media entrepreneurship, leadership and negotiation skills.

Entrepreneurship workshop: The aim of this workshop is to introduce students to the different stages and aspects of launching entrepreneurial ventures by introducing them to entrepreneurs and ventures and to their stories of success and failure. The workshop also includes a 12-day study trip abroad, including company visits, a study program at Kellogg and meeting the program's founder and benefactor, Sam Zell.

Admission criteria for the Zell Entrepreneurship Program include demonstrated leadership ability, high academic standing and experience in, and familiarity with, business or social entrepreneurship. Outstanding students approaching their final year of studies at IDC Herzliya are invited to apply to the program. After screening of applications and letters of recommendation, some candidates will be invited to an interview. A group of eligible candidates will be invited to participate in a summer program. Finally, approximately 24 students will be accepted into the program.
